About Dental Sleep Medicine and Oral Appliance Therapy for Obstructive Sleep Apnea

Dentists are in a unique position to identify sleep disorders, particularly obstructive sleep apnea (OSA). Craniofacial abnormalities, Bruxism, Worn Teeth and a Crowded Oropharynx (Throat) are often associated with OSA. Furthermore, there are now available a wide range of custom fit and adjustable oral appliances with proven effectiveness for the treatment of OSA. These devices provide an attractive alternative for many patients who are unwilling or unable to tolerate CPAP therapy. The rapidly growing field of Sleep Dentistry has allowed the dental profession to better serve patients with a serious medical condition. Medical Diagnostic Solutions works closely with Dentists and their office staffs to provide low cost at home sleep tests for OSA. We educate the dental office staff and patients about the identification, risk, and consequences of OSA, provide the dentist with prompt reports and recommendations by board certified sleep physicians, follow up sleep tests to assess the effectiveness of the oral appliance, and recommend additional evaluation, sleep lab facilities, and sleep specialists if appropriate.
